So You Want to Write (2nd Edition): How to Master the Craft of Writing Fiction and Memoir Marge Piercy, Ira Wood

“This is a great book, no matter what stage of writing you’re at!”—The Writer Magazine

“Here is a must-have for would-be writers. Put this on the shelf right beside Strunk and White.”—Booklist

“Addresses all the elements of successful writing.”—Tampa Tribune

“Advice on getting your work published is worth the cost of the book alone.”—St. Petersburg Times

A featured selection of the Writer’s Digest Book Club; chosen by The Writer Magazine as a Best Book of the Year; compared by the American Library Association to Strunk and White’s classic The Elements of Style; acclaimed by critics, students and teachers and adopted by universities across the country, the unique collaboration between a major American novelist and a publisher is back in a revised second edition, bigger and better than ever.

The most useful and entertaining writing book on the market, the updated second edition has new exercises and expanded essays, covering every aspect of writing and publishing fiction and memoir:

- How to begin a piece so that a reader can’t put it down
- How to create compelling characters
- How professional writers use dialogue
- How to narrow a strategy for telling the story of your life
- How to write about painful material without coming off as a victim

Included are hundreds of insider tips, such as:

- The seven important things when writing about loved ones
- The 10 most destructive things writers do
- What no one will tell you about rejection letters
- FAQs about agents and how much writers really earn
- What to do if your work is continually rejected

Marge Piercy is a New York Times best-selling novelist and memoirist. Ira Wood is a novelist and publisher. Their workshops, given nationally, address overcoming the inner and outer barriers to creativity.
