'Writing First: Practice in Context' is the only developmental workbook that places primary emphasis on students' own writing while at the same time providing ample opportunity for practice and drill. As students use their own drafts to practice sentence, paragraph, and essay writing skills, they also complete workbook-style mastery exercises that reinforce those skills. An engaging visual format highlights key information and makes the text easy to use. By addressing students as serious writers and giving them support they need, 'Writing First' helps them lay a solid foundation for success in college.
